As part of our course project for PA 881, we understand that the ideas, concepts, and data that we receive from our client are confidential. We will only use these for the purposes of the client project and for the educational experience provided within the course. Similarly, we will not share our recommendations beyond our in-class presentations and direct client communications without prior written approval from the client. Accordingly, we will not pass on details to any third party, either directly or indirectly, without the prior consent of Professor Tjernstroem and the client. This agreement includes verbal discussions of the project as well as written drafts or final documents.
